A - INTRODUCTION

1. Nanophotonics for Energy Efficiency

The Nanophotonics for Energy Efficiency Network of Excellence (N4E•NoE) aims to create a research and technology centre of excellence to re-orient and focus nanophotonics research towards the challenges in energy efficient applications. More information may be found at www.n4e.eu.

The objective of the Seed Project Call is to integrate the research activities and resources (knowledge, facilities, equipment and people) of the partners and relevant external stakeholders. By launching a Seed Project Call, N4E•NoE aims to provide seed funding for short-term (maximum 6 months) exploratory research projects to be carried out by two or more partners, at least one of them being from the N4E Consortium. External institutions are encouraged to participate on a zero-cost basis.

Seed proposals must address innovative ideas and methods to increase energy efficiency through the use of disruptive nanophotonics approaches.

This document sets out the conditions on which the N4E-NOE supports the Seed Project Funding Scheme. Non-compliance with these terms and conditions by the principal applicant or the administering institution may result in the suspension of the grant and/or impede the principal applicant's and/or the administering institution's future applications.
